

James D. DeNardo
Spring 2011

- Personal: Born November 26, 1949 in Rochester, N.Y.
Married, one child.
- Position: Professor of Political Science
University of California, Los Angeles.
- Office Address: Department of Political Science
3345 Bunche Hall
University of California, Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California 90024
(310) 991-1578
e-mail: jdenardo@ucla.edu
fax: (310) 825-0778
- Home Address: 10440 Colina Way
Los Angeles, California 90077
(310) 470-8269
- Education: A.B., Dartmouth College, 1971. Summa Cum Laude with Highest Distinction in Government. Phi Beta Kappa.
- M. Phil., Yale, 1974.
- Ph.D., Yale, 1977. With Distinction in Political Science.
- Doctoral Dissertation: The Political Strategy of Protest and Rebellion.
Adviser: Gerald H. Kramer.
- Scholarly Writing: "Turnout and the Vote: The Joke's on the Democrats," American Political Science Review June 1980.

Power in Numbers: The Political Strategy of Protest and Rebellion (Princeton University Press, 1985.)

"Turnout and the Two-Party Vote in Presidential Elections," American Political Science Review December 1986.

"Declining Turnout in an Era of Waning Partisanship," British Journal of Political Science October, 1987.

The Amateur Strategist: Intuitive Deterrence Theories and the Politics of the Nuclear Arms Race (Cambridge University Press, 1995, 490 pp.)

"Why Was the Debate about SDI Ideological?" in Michael Doyle and John Ikenberry, eds., New Thinking in International Relations Theory (Harper Collins, 1997).

"The Turnout Crash of 1972," in J. Geer, ed., New Perspectives on Party Politics: Essays in Honor of Stanley Kelley, Jr. (The Johns Hopkins University Press, 1997).

"The Direct Election of Senators and the Cohesion of the Two-Party Vote," forthcoming, Studies in American Political Development.

"Turnout Dynamics and Electoral Polarization: Analytical Puzzles in the Theory of Surge and Decline" (2002) declined publication in special issue of Political Analysis.

Dynamics in the American Electoral System, book project in progress.

"Publication Bias in Literatures with α -level Significance Filters." Working paper, 2010.

Teaching Experience: Department of Politics and Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University.
1976–1978: Lecturer
1978–1987: Assistant Professor of Politics

Quantitative Analysis of Policy: WWS 303
Quantitative Analysis: Pol 331, Pol 551
Applied Quantitative Analysis: PA 513
Political Conflict and Violence: Pol 338
Party Politics (preceptor): Pol 311
Revolution and Civil Strife: Senior Seminar
The Elections of 1984: Junior Seminar

Department of Political Science
University of California, Los Angeles
1987: Associate Professor
1988–Present: Professor

The Nuclear Dilemma: Pol. Sci. 139a
Problems of Strategy in the Nuclear Age:
Pol. Sci. 139b
Introduction to Political Modeling:
Pol. Sci. 245
Formal Theories in National Security Studies:
Pol. Sci. 245
Conventional Arms Control:
Pol. Sci. 245
Statistical Methods (I, II): Pol. Sci. 200a,
200a1
Advanced Regression Analysis
Pol. Sci. 200E/Psych 258
Regression Analysis

Pol. Sci. 200c.

Introduction to Statistical Analysis

Pol. Sci. 6.

Bounded Rationality

Pol. Sci. 209

Recent Public Lectures: Princeton University, Conference on Party Politics; UC Berkeley, Statistics and Social Science Colloquium; Stanford University Graduate School of Business, Political Economy Series; Stanford University, Center for International Studies and Arms Control; Vanderbilt University, Department of Political Science; UCLA mini-conference, Roots of Ideology; UCLA Conference on the limits of rational choice, Vanderbilt University, New Perspectives on Party Politics, UCLA, Biopolitics—Ideology and Metaphor.

Editorial Experience: Associate Editor, World Politics, 1977-1982.
Manuscript reviews for American Political Science Review, American Journal of Political Science, Journal of Conflict Resolution, Legislative Studies Quarterly, Journal of Political Economy, Political Analysis, Journal of Politics, Princeton University Press, Cambridge University Press.

Community Service: The Willows Community School, Culver City, CA.
The Willows School is a private elementary and middle school enrolling children from pre-Kindergarten through 8th grade. Since 1994, the school has grown to 450 students and a staff of 80, housed in five buildings, with an annual budget of $5 million. The school has enrolled the children of many faculty members from UCLA. Three members of the school's teaching staff are spouses of UCLA faculty.

1993, Co-Founder

1993-1999, Member, Board of Directors

1994-1999, Chair, Committee on Governance

Men With Guns (1997), Associate Producer.

A feature film exploring civil war in Central America. Written and directed by John Sayles. Distributed by Sony Pictures Classics. Nominated for the Golden Globe Award as Best Foreign Language Film, 1999.

UCLA Academic Senate. Committee on Continuing and Community Education.

1999-2002, Member

2002- 2006, Chair

As Chair, initiated the overhaul of the Senate's former Committee on University Extension, and created a new committee with general oversight over community education at UCLA. Doing so required a lengthy procedure to modify the bylaws of the Senate, and recruitment of many new faculty members to participate in policy deliberations about continuing education, distance learning, digital instruction, and professional degree programs.

Academic Senate Distance Learning Work Group, 2004-05

Reviewed policies and procedures for courses using digital instruction at UCLA, including definitions of residency, methods for categorizing online instruction, and infrastructure for extended learning.